

Free public three-day viewing
of the recorded webinar
1-3 December 2017

The North Carolina Genealogical Society presents:

Craig R. Scott, CG, FUGA

“Finding a North Carolina Revolutionary War Ancestor”

For more information and to view the webinar, go to www.ncgenealogy.org

North Carolinians were active participants in the Revolutionary War, providing men, supplies, and support for the revolutionary cause. Records were created before, during, and after the war. There is more to research than compiled military service records and pension application files, such as public claims, pension ledgers and pension payment vouchers. Records are found in the National Archives, Ancestry.com, Fold3.com, the State Library and Archives, and in some unexpected places. Clues to information on ancestors and descendants can be found in the lineage application papers of the Daughters of the American Revolution and the Sons of the American Revolution.

Webinar Viewing Options

- The free public three-day viewing of this recorded webinar will be 1-3 December 2017.
- After the free replay weekend, the webinar and accompanying handout PDF will be accessible on the website to NCGS members as a member benefit.*

Craig Roberts Scott, MA, CG, FUGA, has been a professional genealogical and historical researcher for more than thirty years who specializes in the records of the National Archives. He is a member of the Company of Military Historians, is on the editorial board of the National Genealogical Society Quarterly, and is a Director of the Association of Professional Genealogists. He has authored seventeen books and several articles in the National Genealogical Society Quarterly, Family Chronicle, and other genealogical publications. He is the President and CEO of Heritage Books, Inc., a genealogical publishing firm with over 5,300 titles in print.

Craig has been a faculty member for several years of the Institute of Genealogy and Historical Research, Samford University; the Salt Lake Institute of Genealogy, and recently the Genealogical Institute of Pittsburgh. He is the coordinator for the 3rd Annual Heritage Books Genealogical Conference and Cruise. He was awarded the Grahame T. Smallwood Jr. Award of Merit in 2008 and UGA Silver Tray Award in 2009. He became a Fellow of the Utah Genealogical Association in 2014.

---

*Not an NCGS member? Join today by visiting the Membership tab on the NCGS website.

Watch the NCGS News newsletter and the NCGS website for the current webinar schedule.

---